This study is investigating if it would be possible for women with diet controlled gestational diabetes to monitor their blood sugars at home, with the use of a glucometer (blood sugar measuring device) and a new mobile app (GDMapp) that is linked to the Rotunda hospital server.

If successful, this will reduce the number of women required to come into the hospital for the breakfast club blood tests, and give women more awareness over their blood sugar levels.